

CONFIDENTIAL

Delia Derbyshire

Delia Derbyshire (1937–2001) was a Coventry-born electronic music pioneer best known for her groundbreaking realization of the original Doctor Who theme music in 1963. Often called the “Sculptress of Sound”, her unique sonic style was profoundly shaped by her early childhood experience surviving the Coventry Blitz