

CONFIDENTIAL

Locarno

The Locarno Ballroom was a legendary entertainment venue in the heart of Coventry city centre that operated as a major cultural and musical hub from August 1960 until May 1981. Originally built as part of Coventry's post-war regeneration project, the building still stands today on Smithford Way and serves as the home of the Coventry Central Library